

November Conservation Events

From USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and

Northern Rhode Island Conservation District

Saturday, November 25, 2017

10:00 AM

Stonehenge Farm

63 Moroney Road

Pascoag, RI 02859

Join us at 90-acre Stonehenge Farm, a family-owned farm in Pascoag, to see conservation in action in Northern Rhode Island! This tour has something for everybody; Stonehenge produces vegetables, fruits, herbs, flowers, and a variety of livestock, and much of the property is also actively managed woodland. We will learn more about Stonehenge Farm as well as federally-funded voluntary conservation programs available to producers through USDA NRCS.

This tour will include walking over uneven terrain, and will only be cancelled in the event of extreme weather. Visit nricd.org or call 401-934-0840 to register!

USDA NRCS offers financial and technical assistance for Rhode Island's farm and forest land owners to implement voluntary conservation work on their properties. Popular conservation practices in Rhode Island include forest management plans, seasonal high tunnels for vegetable growers, and heavy use areas for livestock. Join us for a brief presentation to learn more, followed by an open house where you can have your questions answered by representatives from NRCS and Northern Rhode Island Conservation District.

This event is free, but please RSVP by calling 401-934-0840 or visiting nricd.org!
