

USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)/ Northern Rhode Island Conservation District Winter Open Houses

USDA NRCS provides Rhode Island's farm and forest landowners with technical and financial assistance for conservation practices like forest management plans, seasonal high tunnels for vegetable production, soil health improvements, and more! At these events, you'll learn about applying for assistance with practices like these, as well as the Agricultural Easements Program (ACEP, deadline Feb. 16) which focuses on restoring and protecting wetlands and conserving productive agricultural lands. Deadlines for many other NRCS programs are coming up on April 20, so it's a great time to get started.
